WOMEN'S BRAIN TRUST

HELLO!

Dear {Client Name},

I am honored that you reached out, and so excited about the possibility of working together. What follows is a proposal for a structured journey specifically designed for senior leaders like you. It's intended for folks who have led significant work and are now ready to step back, breathe, and think expansively about what comes next.

We can begin as soon as you are ready with an initial cycle of 6 sessions. Following that initial cycle, you are welcome to continue with additional, one-off sessions or a full engagement. I am here to support you through whatever timeline and depth feels right.

All my best,

Jenna / Stacy

WOMEN'S BRAIN TRUST

ABOUT COACHING THROUGH A CAREER TRANSITION

What is this coaching engagement?

This engagement is built for leaders who have been in high-stakes, mission-driven roles, and are ready to pause, reflect, and dream before deciding what's next. We believe you are deeply knowledgeable about your own growth. Our coaching process draws out that wisdom through inquiry, curiosity, and compassionate challenge.

What to Expect

- ✓ Partnership - A confidential, trusting, and professional 1:1 coaching relationship.
- ✓ Personalized Goal-Setting - A collaborative process where you set the focus and goals.
- ✓ Safe Space to Practice - A safe space to practice handling real-world situations and relationships.
- ✓ EQ Development - Growth in emotional intelligence, self-awareness, and leadership skills.

Structure

- Each session is 60 minutes. Walking sessions are encouraged as an option.
- Goals are set at the outset, revisited along the way, and assessed at the close of each cycle.
- Clients typically engage in 6–12 sessions over 4 months.

WHO THIS COACHING ENGAGEMENT IS FOR

5

This engagement is designed for two distinct levels of senior leadership, each with its own depth of experience and its own texture of what "what's next" means.

DIRECTOR LEVEL

Typically 10+ years experience

- Ready to step back (or currently stepping back) from execution
- Questioning whether the current path still fits
- Seeking permission to want something different
- Navigating identity beyond the job / role title

C-SUITE LEVEL

Typically 15+ years experience

- Wrestling with legacy and long-term impact
- Feeling the weight of "who am I without this title / organization / role?"
- Ready to lead differently, or lead somewhere new, or step out of work
- Craving space to think beyond the organization

Leaders in both tiers share a hunger for expansive thinking before decisive action, and a need for a confidential space to be honest about what they want, not just what looks good from the outside.

6 SESSION ARC: COACHING THROUGH A CAREER TRANSITION

6

1

FOUNDATION

Who have you been, and how did you get here?

We'll take space in this first session for you to tell your full career story, not just the résumé version. We'll explore pivotal choices, paths not taken, and the identity you've built to date.

2

INNER LANDSCAPE

Where have you honored / buried your values?

You have likely been conditioned to optimize for what looks right from the outside. We'll talk intrinsic drive, and explore what motivates and energizes you.

3

POSSIBILITY

What does the wide-open version look like?

This is an expansive, generative session. You'll consider what you don't want to miss, imagine multiple possible futures, and widen the aperture on what 'next' could mean.

4

CONSTRAINTS + CLARITY

What's enduring, and what are you ready to let go of?

We'll examine what's non-negotiable versus what's familiar, surface limiting beliefs disguised as constraints, and begin narrowing toward what feels meaningful.

5

INTEGRATION

What's true, what am I here to do, and for whom?

In this session, we'll start to synthesize what has emerged in your thinking (values, energy patterns, future visions, constraints) into a coherent purpose to take into your job search.

6

FORWARD MOVEMENT

What am I carrying forward, and what are my next steps?

This session holds both completion and momentum. We'll honor your work and translate insight into intention. You'll identify next steps. We will decide if we're continuing coaching.

HOW WE'LL WORK TOGETHER

I am available to begin this engagement as soon as you are ready. Here are the key details:

- We will engage in 6 x 60-minute coaching sessions as an initial cycle.
- We'll schedule sessions at regular intervals, ideally bi-weekly or weekly if helpful and schedules allow.
- At the close of the initial cycle, you may choose to continue with an additional cycle or one-off sessions.
- If an interview or conversation emerges along the way that warrants a shift in our attention away from the arc as described, no worries! We'll talk about the shift and decide how to proceed in whatever way best supports your work.
- Between sessions, I am available for check-ins or support via email or text message as needed.

CONFIDENTIALITY + ETHICS

8

One of the foundational commitments of coaching is confidentiality. What you share in the course of our work stays between us. I commit to keeping all information strictly confidential, except as required by law. Any exceptions will be made only with your expressed written permission.

As a credentialed Professional Certified Coach (PCC) and member of the International Coaching Federation (ICF), I pledge to comply fully with the ICF Code of Ethics.

About Us

WOMEN'S BRAIN TRUST

12

WBT is a collaboration between Jenna Shapiro and Stacy Berger. We've worked as leaders in presidential campaigns, across all levels of school systems, at the senior leadership level of action-driven organizations including Planned Parenthood Federation of America, and alongside individuals and teams from the New York City Department of Education to Fair Fight in Georgia. We are passionate about doing work we love alongside people we respect. We partner with movement, government, and non-profit leaders - including at the DNC, Empower, and Emily's List - because we understand their unique challenges. Like them, we believe in the possibility of redesigning our social systems to interrupt inequity and build toward a more just future.

WOMEN'S BRAIN TRUST

MEET STACY

Stacy Berger (she/her) is an ICF Professional Certified Coach and seasoned leadership consultant with over two decades of experience in advocacy, campaign strategy, and organizational development. A former community organizer who cut her teeth as a Field Organizer on the John Kerry campaign in 2004, she has led national and grassroots efforts across the nonprofit and political sectors. Stacy served as the Deputy National Training Director and the GOTV Director at Obama for America, followed by eight years at Planned Parenthood Federation of America where she directed coaching, facilitation, and employee engagement initiatives.

Stacy specializes in leadership development, strategic planning, facilitation, and partner engagement, with a focus on supporting nonprofit and campaign leaders. Her work has taken her from local classrooms to international training rooms, including sessions with Egyptian political leaders and US-based organizations including Moms Demand Action and CHAMP. She holds a BA in Urban Studies and Planning from UC San Diego and lives in Denver with her family.

MEET JENNA

Jenna Shapiro (she/her), MST/MEd, is an ICF Professional Certified Coach with a deep commitment to helping leaders in the public and social sectors navigate complex challenges, strengthen team dynamics, and lead with love and humanity. With a background in education and adult learning, Jenna has spent over two decades designing and facilitating transformative experiences - from launching a public charter school in Brooklyn to leading large-scale system change initiatives with school districts and nonprofits across the country.

She specializes in leadership coaching, team retreats, and organizational culture work, with a particular focus on facilitating candid, equity-centered conversations. A faculty member at Teleos Leadership Institute, Jenna co-leads coach certification programming for leaders from across the country. She holds degrees from Syracuse, Pace, and Harvard, and lives in Brooklyn with her family.

Thank you!
