

WBT – Brand DNA

PURPOSE (PURPOSE FOR EXISTING OTHER THAN TO MAKE MONEY)

We help leaders and organizations operate with greater ease, cohesion, and effectiveness, supporting them in their mission to drive social change and create a powerful, positive impact on society.

MISSION (WHAT YOU DO TO ACHIEVE YOUR PURPOSE)

We coach leaders to grow their capacity to lead, and we challenge teams to work better together.

VISION (WHERE YOU WANT TO GO)

In the next year, WBT will work toward creating a profitable, stable business. We will work with experts to develop a cohesive marketing strategy. We will launch a renewed brand, website, and marketing materials to more effectively communicate what we do and how we work. We will actively cultivate current audiences through direct outreach and expand our target audience to include foundations and philanthropic organizations.

We will continue developing materials and refining processes to use in piloting modules for political campaigns through the DNC. We will gather insights from the field and publish opinion / solutions-oriented pieces that summarize our learning and establish ourselves as having a perspective about what teams need to win elections.

We will build new relationships with leaders and organizations who hire us to support their work with individual coaching and team engagements.

In the next five years, we would like to raise our profile so that we are tapped to be panelists and keynote speakers for conferences and other events focused on leadership.

We will hire employees [contract or salaried] to fill administrative roles. We will continue to accept pro bono clients through volunteer coaching and local campaigns. We will build partnerships that promote our work to new audiences (could include sponsorships for EarlyBird, Bk Org gala table).

BRAND PERSONALITY (If the brand was a personality or an attitude what would it be like?)

The WBT personality is a trusted guide on a difficult stretch of terrain – nimble and confident, attuned to both the landscape and the people walking it. They blend head and heart. They hold systems, power, and strategy and human emotion, identity, and lived experience without privileging one over the other. They listen first, name what others are circling around, and bring steadiness in moments of complexity or uncertainty. They invite pause and perspective as a bridge to personal insight for wiser action. They are an authority on coaching and facilitation, adding a powerful voice in the current conversation around leadership, team development, and what it takes to drive change.

BRAND VOICE (Language)

The WBT brand voice is encouraging, steady, insightful, and attuned. It is calm under pressure and confident without urgency. The voice blends strategic intelligence with human awareness, speaking fluently about systems and power while honoring lived experience. It listens and connects first, then names patterns, tensions, and truths with clarity and care. WBT's authority is grounded – guiding rather than directing, inviting perspective-building and possibility. WBT is a clear, credible voice in today's leadership and team development discourse. The voice engages challenges – complexity, power, identity, culture, and change – without trend-chasing or abstraction. It feels timely, relevant, and anchored.
